9 Unionist Convictions Are Reversed

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Convictions of nine present or former union leaders were reversed and indictments against two of the men were dismissed Monday by the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals. The men had been charged with filing false non-Communist affidavits.

New trials were ordered for the other seven.

The court held that testimony of a key government witness amounted to hearsay.

The International Union of Mine Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.) officers were convicted in U.S. District Court of charges of conspiring to file false non-Communist affidavits with the National Labor Relations Board between 1949 and 1956. Seven of them were sentenced to three-year prison terms and five $2,000 each. The other two received $5-month prison sentences and $1,500 fines.

The appeals court dismissed indictments against James H. Durkin, 48, Chicago, who had been sentenced to 18 months; and Chase J. Powers, 56, Spokane, Wash., who had drawn a three-year term.

It said mere knowledge of the alleged conspiracy did not make a conspirator of Durkin, a former union organizer.

The court said there was no evidence that Powers was a Communist in 1949 and thereafter and no evidence that he knew union officers who might have been Communists. Powers is a member of the union's executive board.

Governor Calls 'Whoa!' On Georgia Speed Law

ATLANTA (AP)—Georgia might have had the fastest moving auto traffic in the world except for a sharp-eyed legal aide to Gov. Ernest Vandiver.

The legislature passed a bill to increase the speed limit on super-highways from 60 to 70 miles an hour. That was all right. But through error the bill also said that any speed slower than 60 on other highways or slower than 35 in cities would be unlawful.

Vandiver vetoed the bill.

JFK Hopes Great Powers Avoid Sterile Swap of Propaganda

U.S. Spy Agency Says Powers' Record Is OK

Report Clears U2 Pilot of Yielding To Red Pressure

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Central Intelligence Agency reported today that U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers lived up to the terms of his employment and "his obligations as an American."

The House Armed Services Committee made public the report on the case of the pilot whose photographic reconnaissance plane came down deep within Russia in May, 1960.

Based on an exhaustive investigation by the CIA and an advisory board, the report cleared Powers of yielding under pressure to tell more than he was authorized to say to his captors.

The intelligence agency said that Powers and other U2 pilots were authorized to "surrender without resistance and adopt a co-operative attitude toward their captors" should evasion not prove feasible and capture appear imminent.

U2 pilots, moreover, were instructed that they were "perfectly free to tell the full truth about their mission with the exception of certain specifications of the aircraft."

The report found that Powers followed these instructions and did what he was authorized to do in admitting his previous Air Force service and his employment by the Central Intelligence Agency.

This statement was the first official acknowledgement that Powers was employed by the CIA, although there had been little doubt of it.

The report said the poisoned needle carried by Powers, and mentioned in his trial in Moscow, was "intended for use primarily if the pilot were subjected to torture or other circumstances which in his discretion warranted the taking of his own life."

"There were no instructions that he should commit suicide and no expectation that he would do so in those situations just described," it added.

The report said there was no evidence to support any belief that Powers' predicament was brought on by "pressure from or defection to the Russians." It also ruled out the possibility of sabotage.

The intelligence agency reported that Powers told its investigators that he could have reached the "destruct" switches which would have set off an explosive

Aging Tailor Dies Unaware 3 Sons Are Victims of Crash

LOS ANGELES (AP)—"You've got to keep me alive until I can see my children," Hyman Levin told his doctors.

But a few minutes later he was dead, never knowing that three of his sons were among 95 killed in the jet airliner crash in New York last Thursday.

The three sons tried to fly to their stricken father because the one-time immigrant tailor and his wife, Rose, 67, had brought up their children to believe a family sticks together.

Hyman, 71, and his wife, struggled through hard times for years in New York City, raising their six children, saving enough money to retire in California.

Two years ago they left for Los Angeles, seeking a warm climate to help a heart ailment Hyman developed in his years of toil. A son and daughter came with them. Three sons remained in the east to tend to their businesses — Irving, of Mineola, N.Y.; Jack, of Hempstead, N.Y., and Bernard, of New York City.

Hyman suffered a severe heart attack last January. His wife Rose injured her back lifting him into bed. Both were hospitalized.

When Hyman got worse last week, the son in Los Angeles, Harry, summoned the family.

A daughter, married to an officer with the American occupation forces in Germany, headed back with her husband, who obtained compassionate leave.

The three other sons boarded the ill-fated American Airlines plane.

Hyman and Rose were not told of the crash. They kept asking about their sons and the daughter coming from Germany.

Rose went into severe shock in her hospital bed when told of Hyman's death on Sunday. The shock was intensified when she was told of her sons' deaths. A granddaughter, one of the Levinthals' 13, also was hospitalized for shock.

Funeral arrangements won't be completed until the daughter and son-in-law arrive from Germany.

Supervisor Post Goes to J. R. Woods

John R. Woods, Walnut Creek Pike, has been promoted to a supervisor's post in production at the Circleville DuPont plant.

Woods, with DuPont since the firm initiated operations here in 1954, previously served as a foreman in manufacturing. His first job with the company was as an operator in manufacturing.

The new supervisor and his wife have two children, Debra Ann and Amy Carol. Mrs. Woods is the former Betty Moeller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Moeller, Route 4.

A former star athlete at Circleville High School, Woods participated in football, basketball and golf prior to his graduation in 1942. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Woods, Route 3.

FOLLOWING graduation at CHS Woods served 3½ years in the U.S. Army Air Force as a fighter pilot in the China-India-Burma Theater. He attained the rank of first lieutenant.

The DuPont employee is a member of the Presbyterian Church and the BPO Elks.

Losses of most key stocks were fractional and a good many were unchanged. A scattering of issues declined a point or more.

Steels were unchanged to slightly lower.

Some autos were off. The trend among oils, rails, utilities and chemicals was generally lower.

As the savings-and-loans gave ground, Financial Federation fell more than 3 points. Great Western Financial and United Financial of California fell more than a point each.

General Motors gained another fraction. Ford and Chrysler declined.

The decision by the Senate committee to question Powers at an open session was announced Monday by Chairman Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., after Central Intelligence Agency Director John A. McCone gave a 1½-hour briefing to a Senate watchdog committee.

In advance of Powers' testimony, Russell and Chairman Carl Vinson, D-Ga., of the House Armed Services Committee, arranged to release a CIA report on its investigation of the matter.

This was expected to follow the line of the reported testimony of McCone at the closed session, that the CIA had no criticism of Powers' actions.

Informed senators said a presidential inquiry board, headed by retired federal Judge E. Barrett Prettyman, had found the pilot fulfilled his contract terms and had recommended he receive about $50,000 in pay held up since his capture.

Khrush Note

Khrushchev's letter with which the United States "cannot agree." But he said he did not want to engage in a propaganda exchange with Khrushchev, and declared:

"Let us, instead, join in giving our close personal support and direction to the work of our representatives (at Geneva), and let us join in working for their success."

It was disclosed Monday that the Soviet premier, in a switch from his previous proposals for starting the March 14 Geneva disarmament conference at the summit level:

1. Agreed to the Kennedy-Macmillan proposal to launch the Geneva gathering at the foreign ministers level.

2. Agreed to send Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko to Geneva a few days early to confer with Secretary of State Dean Rusk and British Foreign Secretary Lord Home, as Kennedy and Macmillan had suggested.

Aides said Rusk planned to leave Washington in time to meet Gromyko and Home in Geneva about March 12, with a main topic to be a treaty on banning nuclear tests.

Khrushchev's 10-page letter was said to have included these other points.

He repeated his contention the disarmament conference should be attended by heads of state.

He denounced as "blackmail," Kennedy's plan to resume U.S. nuclear testing in the atmosphere by late April unless a test ban treaty agreement is reached.

He said the Soviet Union would not abandon its position of refusing to accept international controls which the West insists are necessary for policing a nuclear test ban.

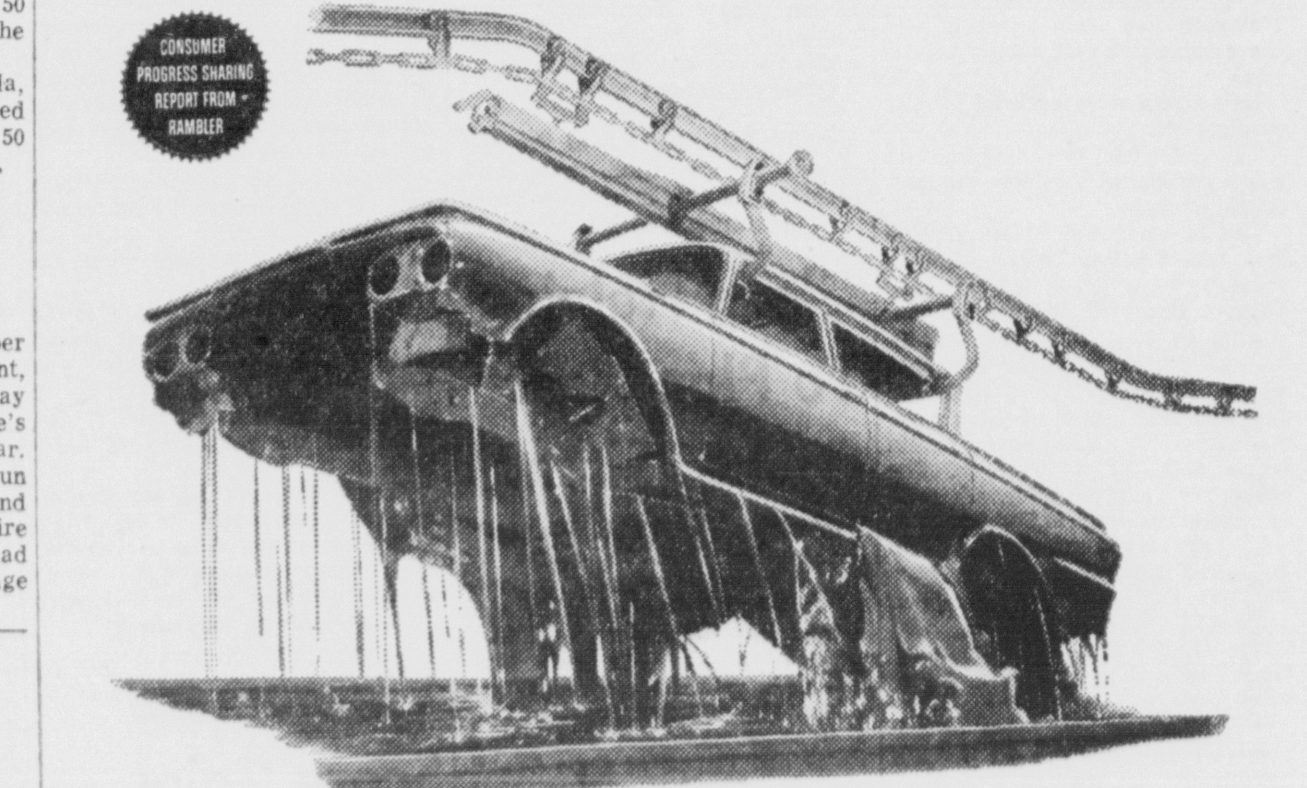

Khrushchev was said to have contended that Kennedy and Macmillan are committed to attendance at the Geneva conference.

He has maintained a summit meeting is the best way to make progress toward disarmament. Kennedy and Macmillan have said the groundwork should be laid by lower level officials, but have left the way open for a summit if the negotiators make progress or if it would solve an impasse.

U. S. officials, assessing Khrushchev's change on the foreign ministers question, gave some credit to Western firmness. They were inclined, however, to give greater weight to the lack of enthusiasm for Khrushchev's proposal shown by the eight unaligned nations invited to the conference, particularly by India.

France's announcement Monday that she would not take part in the conference—thus reducing nations represented from 18 to 17—evoked little reaction here.

President Charles de Gaulle had made plain previously his view that the Geneva parley had little prospect of achievement. If the negotiations do start to make progress, U. S. officials expect France to come back into the picture.

RUSTPROOFING? Rambler spills more than others use

Rust normally starts inside automobile body panels and girders.

To stop that, Rambler goes to extra lengths no other car does.

Every Rambler body is Deep-Dipped—right up to the roof—in a tank of rust-proofing primer paint. Hundreds of gallons surge inside girders and pillars.

Far more rustproofing
When the body comes out, dripping excess solution, over 15 pounds of rustproofing chemicals coat the steel—more rustproofing than any other American car gets, and more spilled, literally, than others use.

But Deep-Dip is just one of 14 steps in Rambler's all-out rust fight—9 steps in the body alone.

9-step body protection
1. Lower body panels are zinc-clad . . .
2. Zinc-rich primer is used on critical metal surfaces before welding . . .

3. Body is spray rustproofed with phosphate paint bond . . .
4. Entire body is Deep-Dipped . . .
5. Primer-surfacer is sprayed, then is baked on . . .
6. Rust-fighting wax compound is sprayed inside girders, rocker panels, fenders . . .
7. Two coats of chip- and salt-resistant super enamel are baked on . . .
8. Sound-deadening rustproofing material is sprayed on vital areas . . .
9. Abrasion-resistant sealer is sprayed on critical underbody areas to protect against stones.

Is it any wonder that Rambler is the world's most rustproofed car?

Ohio Postman Talks at Rally

Hike for Pay Hike
Ends in Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — "My part of the job was physical, and very minute compared to what you have ahead of you," Ohio's hiking mailman told a rally of the National Association of Letter Carriers here Monday.

Ed Kline, who walked 300 miles from Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, to dramatize a campaign for a pay raise here received a standing ovation from more than 2,000 fellow letter carriers.

The mailmen are backing a bill that would give them about a 14 per cent pay hike.

Discussing the proposed hike, Kline said it would give him a yearly increase of about $1,255 on top of his present salary of $4,800.

He said postmen now earn only enough to meet the "bare necessities" and that most of them cannot even make ends meet by holding a second job.

He said if it were not for outside income as a real estate salesman and odd jobs "I would lose my home in three months."

Kline said his trip, which began Feb. 22, was enjoyable but he said the most pleasant surprise was to find on arriving in Washington Sunday that an Akron radio station (WAKR) had flown his wife here to greet him.

Earlier Kline said about 100 dogs along the route gave him somewhat unfriendly greetings. None of them bit him, the mailman said, "but they were irritating like most dogs are."

Outside of the annoyance of the dogs—which he is used to on his 12-mile mail route in Cuyahoga Falls—he said "everyone along the way was nice to me and sympathetic to my cause."

Kline said the hospitality was so good that he spent only $10 of the $100 in expense money the Cuyahoga Falls letter carrier's branch raised.

Kline said his regulation postal shoes held up well on the long hike. But he still intends to buy a new pair with a $15 gift certificate presented to him by an aide of Rep. William H. Ayres, R-Ohio.

Pair Sought After Fleeing Jail in Troy

TROY, Ohio (AP)—Authorities were searching today for two men — one of them considered dangerous—who broke out of the Miami County Jail here.

Sought were Robert P. Broderick, 31, of Piqua, a parole violator from Ohio Penitentiary who is considered dangerous, and Horace E. Patton, 22, of Dayton. Patton is charged with breaking into coin machines.

A third man, Charles Hewitt, 34, of Troy, also escaped but telephoned the jail for help after he suffered possible broken ankles in dropping from a roof.

Hewitt was returned here recently from Ohio Penitentiary to stand trial as a habitual criminal.

Deputies said the three escaped about 10 p.m. Monday night, but the officer on duty did not know of the break until Hewitt called for help.

The men pried a screen from a ventilator duct and crawled up the ventilating system to the roof. They traveled the rooftops for about a half-block before dropping to the ground.

After Hewitt was injured the other two dragged him to a garage and fled.

135 PLASTIC BOMBS ROCK ALGIERS—This Rue Duouch butcher shop on the fringe of the Casbah was destroyed by one of 135 plastic bomb explosions that rocked Algiers in a two-hour, pre-dawn barrage. Autos, stores and apartments were blown up, but police said casualties were comparatively light. The attack by rightwing terrorists was aimed at Moslems and pro-De Gaulle Europeans, police said. The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — The buildup for the new disarmament talks has been too big, too tense, and too dramatic for them to fade out quietly.

They may not accomplish any more than all the other disarmament discussions since World War II.

But the background of these new ones—a 17-nation conference opening in Geneva March 14—has been too flamboyant to produce less than some fireworks of their own.

In that background were the Soviet nuclear tests of last fall, President Kennedy's call for 17 foreign ministers to start the talks, Premier Khrushchev's demand that they begin with a summit conference, and Kennedy's decision for the United States to resume testing.

Most dramatically of all he riveted attention on these talks by saying America would test by the end of April unless, before then, Russia agrees to a nuclear test ban with an inspection system.

In other words he asks agreement on the ban when the disarmament talks—supposed to last till June—are less than six weeks old.

No wonder then that the world's attention and its hopes—although from experience the hopes must be diluted with some skepticism—are fastened on these disarmament talks as never before.

Now that the two giants have started down the nuclear testing road again there is nothing to look forward to, unless the disarmament talks succeed, except an endless nuclear race.

If the talks collapse, it's a good guess the fallout from East-West denunciations of each other will last for weeks. If they just bog down, a summit meeting at last will probably climax them.

The last disarmament talks, far less dramatized than the scheduled new ones, were two years ago. It took months to arrange them—10 nations took part then—and they began March 15, 1960.

They ended June 27 that same year when Russia walked out. The Eisenhower administration said the Soviets had torpedoed them. The Soviets denied this and fired back accusations of their own.

But the environment was different then. Those talks could not have been climaxed by a summit meeting. In May 1960, while the talks were going on, Khrushchev smashed his summit conference with President Eisenhower after the downing of an American U2 plane deep inside Russia.

It was a time of extremely bad American-Soviet relations. The bust-up failure of the disarmament discussion was hardly a surprise.

This time Khrushchev has backed down from his demand for the talks to begin with a summit and has agreed to the suggestion of Kennedy and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan that they begin with a foreign ministers meeting.

Both in turn had made an apparent concession by indicating they might be willing to have a summit meeting with Khrushchev before June, which would be before the scheduled end of the disarmament talks.

This was supposed to have been an 18-nation meeting. But the French government of Charles de Gaulle announced Monday it wouldn't take part. Paris has shown distaste for this meeting right along.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook:

As the deep low pressure system that produced Central Ohio's heavy snow storm moved to the East Coast this morning, the snowfall reduced generally to snow flurries or occasional light snow over the state.

Total snow accumulations were quite variable, ranging from a near record of nine inches at Columbus to one to two inches in other Ohio communities.

Light snow will continue to fall today in the eastern half of Ohio, accumulation of one to three inches of snow in some communities situated on the eastern border of the state.

Elsewhere in Ohio, only flurries are expected with no additional accumulation.

Temperatures today will remain mostly in the 20s, possibly reaching around 30 in the extreme south.

Some early morning temperatures reported today were Columbus 27, Toledo 28 and Mansfield and Cincinnati 29.

New Bendix Factory Slated near Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP)—Work on a new Bendix Corp. plant just north of here will begin as soon as possible, says L.E. Rasmussen, general manager of Bendix's Cincinnati division.

Bendix announced Monday it had bought a 46 acre site along Interstate 275. Rasmussen said the new plant will be occupied this year. The Cincinnati division of Bendix makes devices for detecting radiation and nuclear fallout.

Ex-Middletown Bank Aide Held As Embezzler

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Authorities were undecided today whether Middletown or Butler County officials would travel to Las Vegas to pick up a man charged with a $6,141 embezzlement.

Police were notified Monday that William E. McKinney, 22, had been picked up in the Nevada city on vagrancy charges.

McKinney disappeared in January shortly after agreeing to take a lie detector test about his story that he was slugged and robbed of the money he was taking to a bank Jan. 10.

At the time, McKinney was a clerk at the Economy Savings and Loan Co.

Police doubted his story from the first. Two days after the robbery, McKinney returned $1,900. He said his wife had found the money under a car seat and agreed to the lie detector test.

Police Chief Joseph Blackmore said McKinney has agreed to waive extradition. The chief wired a warrant charging McKinney with embezzlement to the Las Vegas authorities.

Glenn's Space Movies Shown

Remarkable Film Tells Much about Flight

WASHINGTON (AP) — You watch astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. squeeze space food into his mouth as he hurtles over Africa. You see his exultant smile as he emerges into dawn. You see the light grow to almost blinding intensity as he comes down in his fireball ride to the sea.

It's all in a remarkable film taken inside his Friendship 7 capsule while he made his historic trip orbit of the earth Feb. 20.

The movie got a sneak preview Monday in a darkened hearing room on Capitol Hill. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration says it soon will be available for public viewings.

The close-up color film of Glenn's trip—from donning his space suit through excellent views of the capsule's recovery by the destroyer Noa—gives new excitement and immediacy to the now oft-told tale.

You are with Glenn as he experiences the heavy forces in the takeoff. You see the straps of his space suit floating freely in the air as the astronaut becomes weightless.

You watch as Glenn lifts his face plate and takes space food from a plastic bottle as he crosses Africa on the first orbit.

There is a perceptible bump or jerk as the retro rockets fire to slow the capsule for its re-entry into the atmosphere. The light grows to almost blinding intensity as Glenn plunges to the sea, the most critical part of the journey.

The film, hastily edited down to 32 minutes by NASA, was shown without sound track. NASA official George Low provided a narrative for the standing room audience of congressmen and congressional workers.

Ohio-Born Psychology Pioneer Dies

NEW YORK (AP)—Dr. Carney Landis, head of the Department of Psychology at the New York State Psychiatric Institute, died Monday at the Harkness Pavilion. He was 65 and had been in the hospital since mid-January.

The institute and pavilion are branches of Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center.

Landis, a former Columbia University professor of psychology, was a pioneer in applying quantitative methods of the study of mental illness and had developed tests to measure the psychosexual development in humans.

Among the many books he wrote were "Studies in Dynamics of Behavior," "Modern Society and Mental Diseases," "The Startle Pattern," "Sex in Development," and "Textbook of Abnormal Psychology."

Born in West Alexandria, Ohio, Landis studied at the Carnegie Institute of Technology, was graduated from Ohio State University and did postgraduate work at Dartmouth and the University of Minnesota.

Entire Society Involved

A few days ago U. S. Secretary of Labor Arthur Goldberg made a significant policy statement of the Kennedy administration. He declared that the federal government intended to get directly into national labor - management collective bargaining whether it was wanted or not.

With some exceptions the past role of governmental agencies (and the President) has been to enter labor disputes only to mediate them — to prevent the outbreak of economy-crippling strikes.

Now, though, Goldberg says this will not be enough, that the issues in labor-management affairs have become "far too complex, far too potent and far too influential on the rest of society to be resolved on the old testing ground of the clash of selfish interest."

The blastback has begun against this

Like a Bad Novel

The recent career of Janio Quadros, one-time president of Brazil, reads like a bad novel.

Six months ago Quadros resigned in protest against pressures on him. He obviously believed the public would destroy his opponents and demand that he take office again with a free hand. But the public took his resignation with surprising calm, and Janio was just another politician out of work.

Quadros, still confident that the public wanted him back, then took off on a leisurely trip around the world — by slow freighter. This, among other things, provided time for his successors to get into trouble. Now Quadros' freighter, by sheer

The Business World

NEW YORK (AP)—The two big questions in the stalled steel labor talks for the ordinary fellow on the outside looking in are:

1. What will the Kennedy Administration do under its newly announced labor policy to get talks started again?

2. Will steel customers start fresh and stepped-up ordering as a hedge against a strike or a price hike—and if they do, will it spark a boom followed by a letdown?

And for many there's the underlying question—the one that some

Another Trial Against B&O Is Ordered

CINCINNATI (AP)—The U. S. Court of Appeals, Sixth Circuit, threw out a decision of Judge Frank L. Kloebe of Toledo and ordered a new trial today in damage suits against the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad.

The appeals court held Judge Kloebe erred in U. S. District Court by refusing to admit testimony by a witness who heard the collision of a car and a train Nov. 13, 1959.

In the wreck at a Huron County crossing, the occupants of the car — Wanette Green, 20, and Richard Shepherd, 29, of near Willard—were injured fatally.

The court action was on suits by administrators of their estates seeking damages of $60,000 each.

Judge Kloebe in a directed verdict March 9, 1961, held in favor of the railroad.

The appeals court noted the witness whose testimony was excluded would have testified he heard no bell, whistle or horn sounded prior to the collision.

avowed intention to interfere in the free collective bargaining procedure. But surprisingly one of the first attacks came from labor, not management, despite labor's usual ability to benefit by governmental intervention in disputes.

George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, jumped on the Goldberg plan. He said: "I don't agree with it. The government's role is mediation, conciliation or anything else it can do to help industrial peace . . . He is infringing on the rights of free people and free society . . . This is a step in the direction of saying the federal government should tell either or both sides what to do, and I don't agree with that."

But Quadros' future depends on the voters of Brazil, who took his resignation in stride. Despite that nasty surprise, it is plain that Quadros still expects his story to have a happy ending.

If it does, it's a safe bet he will not resign for the second time.

say is the biggest stumbling block at the talks: What kind of a plan will the steel industry finally work out to satisfy labor's demands for job security?

The answer to the last might become a guide for other labor contracts in industries where workers fear job losses. And many do these days, whether from automation or mergers.

The answers to the administration's stand and to steel customer reaction, and to the kind of contract finally drawn, could eventually mean a lot to everyone. Involved could be the cost of living, if the final result should lead to another whirl of the wage-price spiral.

The Kennedy administration has been involved in the steel situation for many months, since the President's appeal to the steel companies to hold the price line despite a raise in wages effective last October. The President then successfully urged both management and labor to start the new contract talks early. They began in mid-February, although the present contract doesn't expire until June 30. They were broken off Friday night.

The administration policy in labor disputes, as put forth by labor Secretary Arthur J. Goldberg, contains an important new note. Up to now government officials have tried to prevent or halt strikes by seeking a compromise both sides will accept with varying degrees of grace.

"Me? Certainly not," agreed the young man cheerfully. "My uncle was your patient. And I'm his sole heir."

Inside You and Yours

By BURTON H. FERN, M.D.

If a streetcar passes while Mr. H. is eating ice cream, he breaks out in a cold sweat and his heart begins to pound!

He's feeling an anxiety attack. Everyone feels anxiety when uncontrollable force threatens — and sometimes afterwards. You don't break out in a cold sweat until AFTER a near-miss auto accident!

Some people are born vulnerable to nervous tension. Others are taught tense anxiety by stern, rigid parents. Some forgotten childhood experience can bring on palpitation today.

At his gas station, Mr. H. didn't recall stealing a nickel from Mom's purse to buy ice cream — and being caught chocolate-handed just as a streetcar went by! But his unconscious mind remembered.

Anxiety often creeps in when life begins to slow down in the late forties or fifties. You fidget nervously as fear-filled pressures build up.

Loved ones move away. Others pass away. Arthritis, indigestion — all kinds of ailments threaten body and budget. And so adrenaline pours out, blood pressure rises and you breathe deeper. Muscles tense and you can't sleep. Intestines and kidneys work overtime.

Your doctor can perform minor mental surgery. He'll treat your ailments and steer you to community agencies which can help your budget problem. Meanwhile, he'll prescribe tranquilizing medicines to calm those nerves.

Every time you come for a new prescription, he can help you talk out your problems. A close-mouthed friend with a sympathetic ear can help, too.

For more severe anxiety, the doctor may prescribe sedatives to help you sleep day and night for a week. You should awake calm and refreshed.

Anxiety rarely strikes hard enough to require psychoanalysis — a major operation. The analyst opens your mind so you can see the trouble. You have to remove it and mend the wound yourself.

The couch is no operating table. But on it, Mr. H. was able to get streetcars and ice cream off his mind!

Dr. Fern's mailbox is wide open for letters from readers. While he cannot undertake to answer individual letters, he will use readers' questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Fern in care of this newspaper.

By George Sokolsky

When one receives as large a mail response as I do, the readers are speaking their minds and what they say is important.

Sometimes when I quote from correspondents' letters, they express annoyance that I do not give them in full, they not realizing that when they debate they must leave room for the other side, meaning me.

A. Robert Groenke, Jr., of Cincinnati, takes me to task on several points worth discussing.

First, he raises the point: "Now . . . you say that Russia does not intend to destroy the capitalist world by force and violence. You do not specify this strategy as being applied only by the present leadership of Russia . . ."

The use of the term, "force and violence," so general in this country to fit antiquated laws, is, in my opinion, misleading. In the historic struggle, now affecting the entire world, which involves both a Communist Revolution and the erection of a Soviet Universal State, it is more correct to say that any means, including force and violence, will be employed by all sides to achieve their goals. Soviet Russia has, up to the present, been more skillful in employing propaganda, infiltration, Machiavellian diplomacy than its opponents. In the use of spies and Fifth Columnists, Soviet Russia has done well.

Again Groenke asks with regard to the internecine quarrel within the Soviet Universal State:

"Perhaps it is based upon the fact that disagreement exists between Mr. K and the Chinese-Albanian group. However, isn't it possible this is mostly a sham designed to confuse the Western world?"

Differences among Communists have been continuous since the first meeting in London in 1903. There has been no period since 1917, when the Bolshevik Revolution was successful, that the party was not torn by vast differences of position. Lenin managed to hold the Bolsheviks together for a time but upon his death the differences sharpened.

Trotsky was driven into exile; Stalin established a personal dictatorship and steadily killed off Right and Left Deviationists until all but a few old Bolsheviks remained. What Stalin sought to prevent was the crumbling of the Revolution by private opinion, by what in this country, we hold to be sacred — the provisions of the First Amendment to the Constitution.

Having no faith in either the Bolsheviks or the Russian people, Stalin set up a monolithic state in which differences of opinion could not be tolerated. Khrushchev has neither the prestige nor the power to maintain this monolithic state. He, himself, attacked the "cult of personality."

The Chinese - Albanian deviation is very different from that of Tito and neither is a sham. Tito believes in national Communism, an idea originally advocated by Earl Browder as applying to the United States. In a word, what in the 16th Century appeared as the nationalistic revolt among Christian nations, leading to the establishment of numerous state churches, is happening in the Soviet Universal State, viz: that while all Communists respect Marxism, many wish to manage their own Communist affairs.

The Chinese Communists want that and more, too. They want to manage their own affairs and also have a senior voice in the Soviet Universal State. Originally, the Chinese Communists were Trotskyists and were influenced by Karl Radek whom Stalin undoubtedly had killed. Mao Tze-tung and his associate, Chu Teh, were given power by Stalin. Thus, there is an intellectual loyalty to Lenin and a political loyalty to Stalin. But there is no basis for loyalty to Khrushchev. In fact, Mao Tze-tung who is a philosopher, must regard Khrushchev as a yokel.

There is no sham in their differences but we would, indeed, be a stupid people if we believed that in a war, these differences would count for very much. For to a Communist the ultimate enemy must be the survival of capitalism as a meaningful economic and social system anywhere and for them, the worst example of such a

Ways To Use Wasted Time; Be a Miser with Minutes

QUICK CLEANING — Make quick work of dusting phono records by going over them with the brush attachment of your vacuum cleaner.

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

If you only have the time—what would you do with it? Find some and see!

You can add a whole hour to your day if you're a miser with minutes, use them wisely to get their full worth.

Wasteful Ways

We all waste time in little ways. Eliminate those ways and you're ahead of the game, with time to enjoy yourself at the end of the day.

For example, save time by using your vacuum cleaner to full advantage. It makes quick work of jobs that would take longer if done by hand.

Use Attachments

Use the proper attachments to dust furniture and drawer interiors. Clean blinds with the dusting brush.

Use the vacuum to brush records clean and to whisk cigarette butts out of ash trays and into the disposal bag. This latter trick saves you a trip or two out to the kitchen where ash trays are usually emptied.

In The Kitchen

Save steps in the kitchen — and save plenty of time, too — by organizing cabinets so that supplies are stored as close to their point of use as is possible.

Save time when setting the table for dinner by loading silver, dishes and other essentials on a cart or

U.S. Education Said To Need Retooling Now

CHICAGO (AP)—There is so much to learn, and so little time in which to learn it, that American education must be retooled from top to bottom, some of the nation's top educators said today.

Oliver J. Caldwell of the U.S. Office of Education suggested, for instance, that the traditional 12 years of free public education should be extended to 14 years.

For some students, he said, the last two years would consist of semiprofessional or vocational education. For others it would be the start of advanced academic training.

Caldwell, in a prepared address to the 17th National Conference on Higher Education, also proposed a new and more rigorous college program.

Four-year liberal arts colleges should be established, he said, which would start about where the present junior year of college work begins.

Graduate work and professional education thus would be based on 18 years of formal education instead of the present 16, Caldwell said.

Caldwell said the present 12-year program of elementary and secondary education is not strong enough for an era in which the body of man's knowledge doubles every 15 years.

Cincy Bottlers Dispute Is Eyed by Mediator

Dear Abby: The Male Angle!

by Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: The worst thing that can happen to a guy is to be born two years before his sister. I am 16 and my sister is 14 and my parents won't let me get a date for anything until my sister has a date. If she doesn't get one, I have to take her. They say, "Just take her there and she will make her own good time." It never happens that way. I have to dance every dance with her and it's no fun for me. What should I do? I can't say I don't feel good again as I have used up that excuse already.

STUCK WITH SISTER

DEAR ABBY: Your parents may mean well but they are being very unfair to you. This sounds like a mother's idea. Appeal to your father.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter (24) wants to marry a divorced man (29). He is Protestant and so are we. No children are involved. I have met him and believe, if given half a chance, he would make a good husband for our daughter. The big problem is my wife. She doesn't know him and doesn't want to know him. All she knows is that he is a divorced man and that makes him no good. I am interested only in why he and first wife were divorced, whether he would treat our daughter with respect and support her, and for my part that is good enough. These young people love each other. I have investigated him at his place of work and they speak very well of him. He looks like a gentleman and acts like one. How can I convince my wife to give him a chance? She thinks it's a case of one man sticking up for another.

Serve and Eat Salad AND Bowl!

Eat a salad, bowl and all? That's just what you can do, if you serve a novel salad devised by the Borden Kitchen. That's because the salad bowl itself is baked cheese pastry, and the delicious filling is a hearty Crab Meat Salad DeLuxe. It's as easy to make as it's tasty to eat.

Crab-Meat Salad DeLuxe
(Makes 7 cups—enough to fill 6 Cheese Pastry Shells)

2-1/2 cups (two 6-1/2 ounce) cans crabmeat
1 cup chopped celery and celery leaves
1 medium-size green pepper, chopped
1/2 cucumber, chopped and cubed

3 hard-cooked eggs, cut in large pieces
1-1/2 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/4 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1/2 cup mayonnaise

Drain crab-meat. Remove any shell. Break up into large pieces. In a large bowl combine crab-meat and vegetables. Add avocado, eggs, seasonings and mayonnaise. Mix lightly. Refrigerate until ready to serve. Spoon into Cheese Pastry Shells. Garnish with strips of Vera-Sharp Cheese Slices.

Cheese Pastry Salad Bowls
(Makes 6 (4-1/4 inch) shells)

1 (6-ounce) package Vera-Sharp cheese slices
2 sticks pie crust mix
1/4 cup boiling water

Grate the cheese slices. Crumble pie crust mix into bowl; add cheese and water. Stir until pastry loses its stickiness. Roll out on a floured board to form a rectangle about 8-1/2 x 13-inches. Divide into six equal pieces. Dip the outside of a 9-1/2 ounce pyrex bowl into flour. Place in center of a pastry piece. Press pastry around pyrex bowl to about 1/2-inch from the edge. Place upside down on baking sheet. With tines of a fork mark top edge and sides of pastry in criss-cross fashion. Bake in hot oven (450° F.) for 10 minutes or until delicately golden. Cool for 5 minutes, gently remove from pyrex bowls.

Khrush Ignores Ag Experts, Calls for Big Farm Output

MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Khrushchev has called for a sweeping overhaul of the Soviet Union's agricultural system to provide more meat and other food for the expanding Soviet population.

Poor management of the Soviet collective farms has "seriously jeopardized" the country's agricultural program, Khrushchev warned in a six-hour speech Monday before the opening session of a Communist party Central Committee meeting called to approve new agricultural plans.

To cope with the mounting food shortage, Khrushchev proposed: 1. Planting vast areas of grass land in grain, despite objections from some agriculture experts that this departure from the traditional crop rotation system will result ultimately in less production.

2. Doubling production of farm machinery and encouraging the chemical fertilizers now in critically short supply.

4. Increasing the farm labor force with city youths, including girls.

The premier warned that the Soviet population, now at 200 million, will reach between 250 and 280 million in the near future. Failure to increase farm production accordingly will "confront the country with great difficulties and the cause of building communism will be seriously damaged," Khrushchev declared.

The Soviet premier noted complaints from various cities that there is little meat or butter for sale in shops.

"The fact is that we simply do not have enough meat," he said. Khrushchev proposed setting up a new government agency to investigate thoroughly the needs of collective and state farms and direct the individual development of each farm.

The premier warned, however, that despite the need for a stepup in agricultural production, industry should not be neglected. Shortages in fertilizer and farm machinery are partly due to the fact that so much Soviet capital has been funneled into heavy industry in a bid to surpass U. S. industrial might.

Western correspondents were barred from the closed meeting. Moscow's leading papers came out today with eight-page editions, seven of which carried the text of Khrushchev's address.

Gibraltar Rock Apes Awarded Pay Raise to Sixpence Daily

A pair of Gibraltar's apes gambol about.

By STEVE LIBBY
Written Especially for Central Press and This Newspaper

The cost-of-living index for apes has risen during the past decade. So much so that Gibraltar's rock apes, which are listed on the rolls of the militia at this stepping-stone between southern Spain and Africa, recently enjoyed an increase in their per diem allowance from four-pence to six-pence daily.

In reality, these 29 apes living among Gibraltar's crown colony of 25,000 inhabitants get much of their food from the wild olives, almonds and figs growing on the upper part of the Rock. They're also fed liberally by tourists.

The apes are made up of two packs who neither mix socially nor do they invade each other's territories. They are so flourishing it is often necessary to send specimens to zoos all over the world.

This responsibility belongs to the officer in the British garrison known as the "keeper of the apes" in response to an ape population census ordered every six months by the colonial secretary of Gibraltar to the "Officer in Charge."

The daily sixpence ration allowance is noted on a regular payment voucher headed "Upkeep of Apes."

No one knows where the rock apes came from — or when. This only natural simian colony in all Europe certainly is not indigenous to Gibraltar. They are tailless Barbary apes, whose natural habitat is the Atlas Mountains across the Straits. In the rare instances when fresh breeding blood is needed, it is from these mountains of Morocco that reinforcements have come.

Standing only two feet high at full growth the reddish-coated monkeys have had a stormy and controversial career. They're always in some sort of devilment, damaging gardens, stealing food and even throwing stones.

It's said a British colonel once stormed out of his quarters when he found an ape not only sleeping in his bed, but wearing his trousers, as well.

They became such a nuisance in 1923 that they were actually put under order for exile. However, an ancient tradition intervened: legend says that when the last monkey leaves Gibraltar, the British will leave, too.

Even so great a world figure as Sir Winston Churchill once stepped into the breach. In 1944, en route to the Teheran Conference, he stopped off at Gibraltar to inquire about the health and welfare of the apes which make up the Rock's prime tourist attraction. Shocked to learn their numbers had dwindled to 16, he commanded that their rank must never drop below 24.

This law has been strictly enforced ever since.

No one troubled to tell Churchill that a year or two earlier — due to tunnelling and blasting on the island — the number of Gibraltar's rock apes had dropped to five!

Screen Actor Union Attacks Misbehavior of Its Members

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—In a rare move for a labor union, the Screen Actors Guild has publicly criticized the misbehavior of some of its members on movie sets. Thus the guild has taken a stand on an issue that has caused alarm among the responsible elements in show business: The lack of professionalism on the part of some performers today. Its official publication, Screen Actor, last week printed an editorial declaring members must "give a full day's work for a full day's pay" or face disciplinary action.

"The time has come," the editorial stated, "to challenge the misbehavior on the sets of some actors whose conduct on occasion dishonors the guild's and their own contracts with producers."

Among the offenses cited: Showing up late for work, taking a two-hour lunch instead of one-hour, talking on the phone when wanted for a take, taking too many nips out of the bottle, being "too busy" to learn dialogue. The guild didn't name names. But an observer of the Hollywood scene can cite recent examples:

Airport Loses In High Appeal

Supreme Court OKs Damage to Resident

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court has ruled a property owner near an airport is entitled to compensation if the noise and vibration from low-flying planes make his home unlivable. The nine justices were unanimous in this view which may open the way for millions of dollars in suits involving many airports throughout the nation.

They split 7-2, however, on the question of who should pay the compensation.

The majority, in an opinion delivered by Justice Douglas, held the compensation was due from the operators of the airport.

Justice Black, in a dissent joined by Justice Frankfurter, contended the federal government should pay. He argued an airport is part of a national transportation system of advantage to the whole nation in time of peace and war.

The case before the court was a claim by Thomas N. Griggs for compensation from Allegheny County (Pa.) owner and operator of the Greater Pittsburgh Airport.

Griggs said planes zoomed over his house as low as 11.36 feet above the roof, shook plaster from ceilings and walls, and made conversation in the house impossible. He said occupants were unable to sleep "even with ear plugs and sleeping pills," and in fear for their lives, finally moved away.

A Board of Viewers, set up under Pennsylvania law, awarded Griggs $12,690 against the county. That was set aside, however, by the Pennsylvania Supreme Court. It ruled there had not been an unconstitutional taking by the county of the airspace above the Griggs property. It suggested Griggs press trespass suits against the owners of aircraft. Griggs appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court, asking that the county be held liable for compensation.

1. A top star whose dispute with a studio over the script of an epic reached epic proportions itself. At one point, he no longer argued but merely went into the scene and read his lines in an expressionless monotone. Many days of worthless filming were expended.

2. An actress who seldom appeared less than two hours late every morning and left the studio in midafternoon to visit her doctor. Her tardiness was said to have wiped out chances for a profit on the picture.

3. A character actor whose passion for the grape was so strong that he finally had to be written out of an adventure film.

4. A young actress who staged a sit-down strike on the set until she got script changes she wanted. It was her third movie.

There have been others—not in epidemic proportions, but with enough frequency to worry producers, and now the Screen Actors Guild. The worry is compounded by everyone's concern over the future of Hollywood as the movie center—Item: 16 film starts so far in 1962 vs. 25 last year.

Troublemakers were never a problem in Hollywood as long as the studios were ruled by iron hands. If an actor held up shooting, he soon discovered no studio would hire him.

But studio control has virtually disappeared in recent years.

The situation is not limited to movies. Variety, which serves as the conscience as well as the Bible of show business, has lately criticized the sloppy manners, onstage and off, of many performers, especially in the music and nitery fields.

The paper recently cited the fine example of the Flying Wallendas carrying on with their aerial act after two members were killed in a fall. This contrasted, said Variety, "with the self-pitying, self-indulging, contract-jumping, performance-skipping performers and musicians who have made such a bad impression during the last season."

Disc Jockey Yaks For 202 Hours

SELMA, Ala. (AP)—A Selma disc jockey claims a world record of 202 hours, 48 minutes and 47 seconds for marathon radio broadcasting.

A physician said Dan Morgan of station WCWC apparently suffered no ill effects from his stint of more than eight days.

Morgan, 27, ended his marathon Saturday night. Colleagues said he made the broadcast with only brief interruptions for food and physical examinations.

The station said Morgan bettered the 200-hour broadcast mark set by disc jockey Peter Tripp for station WMGM from a booth in New York's Times Square in January 1958.

Medical Care for the Aged: JFK's Big Push Is Coming

WASHINGTON (AP)—Medical care for the aged — the big push is on.

"Socialized medicine," the American Medical Association cries. "Human dignity for the aged," President Kennedy insists.

Behind the relatively recent concern for the health problems of old people are these hard facts:

The life span has increased twenty years since 1900. Older people are ill more often and go to the hospital more frequently than younger ones. And daily hospital costs have risen from $9.36 in 1946 to $32.23 in 1960.

The average annual medical bill for persons over age 65 is $177. Nearly 68 percent of persons over age 65 have an annual income of less than $1,000. Twenty-seven additional percent additional aged have a yearly income of less than $3,000.

Thus, the issue is not whether the nation's 17 million older citizens should have medical care. It is how they can pay for it.

Kennedy has proposed that medical care for the aged be financed through an increase in Social Security taxes. Only hospital and nursing home costs, not physicians' or surgeons' fees, would be covered.

His prime antagonist, the American Medical Association, has insisted that medical care for the aged can be handled through private insurance, with the federal and local governments picking up the slack for the medically indigent under a program already in existence.

This is no new fight. The Social Security approach to medical care for the aged was first proposed in Congress in 1957, but got nowhere. Carrying out a campaign promise, Kennedy put the program to Congress last year. The bill never got out of the House Ways and Means Committee.

The question now is whether this year's bill has any better chance since the committee membership is just about the same as last.

Administration leaders contend there are three reasons why the bill is likely to come to a floor vote:

(1) Kennedy did not make any real effort to get a congressional vote last year. This year, he is making a strong fight and even take the issue to the people in a nationwide broadcast in May.

(2) Pressure is being exerted on individual congressmen by Golden Age Clubs and other groups allied with the National Council of Senior Citizens for health care through Social Security. Dozens of big rallies have been sponsored by these clubs throughout the nation.

(3) This is a congressional election year. The Administration claims that public opinion polls show that more than a majority of Americans favor the President's medical care bill and will voice their approval or disapproval of congressional action when the fall elections come.

Others are not quite so optimistic. The big bottleneck, now as well as last year, is the generally conservative Ways and Means Committee, headed by Rep. Wilber Mills, Democrat of Arkansas. Mills opposes the President's bill. He has full faith in the success of the Kerr-Mills law, which he co-sponsored in 1960. This law provides federal funds to states for aiding those who are not on relief rolls but are not able to pay heavy medical expenses; and other federal funds to states for expanding medical care of the aged on relief rolls.

While Administration leaders ponder the obstacles, the American Medical Association has not been resting. At first, it said that the Kerr-Mills law could handle the problem. But recently it strongly endorsed a Blue Shield private-insurance program of relatively low cost, designed to cover surgical, physician and therapy fees, but not hospital bills.

The Administration reaction was that the Blue Shield plan was fine and good, but what about the big problem of hospital costs?

The Blue Cross Association, also non-governmental, has developed a tentative program to provide hospital care for those over 65.

The Administration bill calls for an increase in Social Security taxes of one-fourth of 1 per cent for employer and employee, starting next Jan. 1, and raising the present maximum yearly earnings taxed from $4,800 to $5,200. This would cost each worker about $1.05 a month. His employer would pay an equal amount.

This tax, estimated to bring in about $1 billion in the first year, would be more than enough to finance the program and cover about 14½ million of the nation's 17 million persons 65 or over.

Coverage would include hospital expenses in excess of $10 a day for the first nine days and full cost for 81 days; nursing-home services for 180 days after hospital discharge; outpatient clinic diagnostic services in excess of $20, and limited home health services.

The Blue Shield plan, endorsed by the American Medical Association, would cost a single person about $3.20 a month; a husband and wife, about 6.10 a month. Physicians' services would be paid in full for single persons with annual income with combined income for couples with combined income under $4,000.

Coverage would include surgery, anesthesia service, physicians' visits to hospitalized patients for 70 days and visits to patients in licensed nursing homes for 13 weeks. It would also cover radiation therapy, X-rays and laboratory examinations.

The Blue Cross plan, not yet fully announced, is expected to cost $10 to $12 a month. A federal subsidy would be needed to pay for those unable to bear the cost. Coverage would include the entire cost of 70 days of hospital care.

Chinese Pilot Says Mainland Set To Revolt

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Lt. Liu Cheng-ze, a fighter pilot who defected with his MIG15 from Red China, said today "the people of the mainland are in a desperate condition and ready to rise against the Communist bandits."

It was music to the ears of Nationalist Chinese officers, who have been saying the same thing for years. Their theory is that a major revolt, with speedy support from Formosa, would topple the Peiping regime.

Liu, 25, landed his Soviet-made fighter at Taoyuan Saturday and struck it rich. Nationalist China's tale of awards for defecting pilots who land their Communist planes intact rates the MIG15 at $35,000 in gold. Liu said, however, he escaped not for a reward but just to become a free man and join the Nationalists in fighting the Communists.

Life on the mainland, he said, is unendurable. He is in good health he said, because the armed forces are given preferential treatment.

But by his account the people as a whole are not getting enough to eat; in the big cities, a ration includes only two ounces of oil a month, even less elsewhere; rice supplies are hopelessly inadequate and many people in the countryside are living on the leaves and roots of trees.

Of Peiping-Moscow relations, there is a rift between the Chinese and the Soviet Communists and it is widening, he said.

Truck Broker's Role Lauded By Ag Agency

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department has a good word for a new type of broker—the truck broker. It calls him vital to the modern system of transporting farm commodities.

The truck broker is one who helps producers get trucks for moving their products to markets, and helps truckers find commodities that need transporting. This type of broker has developed with the expansion of truck transportation of farm products to markets.

A study on the role of this broker showed that there are 246 truck brokerage firms in the country. They are booking more than 4 million tons of farm products annually. Fresh fruits and vegetables and livestock make up the great bulk of these commodities.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A government report on European wheat crop prospects indicates U.S. exports of this grain may ease off during the coming marketing season.

The Agriculture Department said a survey showed that the winter wheat acreage in Europe is expected to be larger than last year. It said the crop came through the winter in good condition in most areas, though lack of adequate snow cover has been a cause for concern in some areas.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department is working out a plan for preserving stocks of poultry breeds, strains and inbred lines.

A registry of poultry germ plasm will be published yearly, beginning later this year. It will list mutant stocks, inbred lines, and purebred strains of chickens, turkeys and other poultry owned by breeders in this country and Canada. Owners and amounts they hold will be shown for each line or strain.

Officials said this registry would indicate the plentiful stocks so that breeders might avoid duplication of effort. The registry also will show if there are any lines or stocks in danger of becoming extinct.

Ohio Air Guard Flight Record Hailed Abroad

RAMSTEIN AIR BASE, Germany (AP) — Air Force headquarters here disclosed today that the Ohio Air National Guard's 166th Tactical Fighter Squadron flew 26 jets from Columbus, Ohio, to Etain Air Base, France, without having one grounded for repairs.

The Ohio squadron is the only one of six units ordered to active duty and sent overseas in late October and early November that made the trip without a major mechanical breakdown.

Flood Damage Tally Is Eyed by Governor

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—A preliminary estimate of more than $2 million in recent flood damage to nine southern West Virginia counties was received Monday by Gov. C. W. Barron from the U.S. Engineers at Huntington.

The report will help Barro decide whether to ask President Kennedy to declare the flood stricken region a disaster area.

Copyright Decision Is Postponed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court put off today a final ruling on whether government officials may copyright as private property their public speeches on official matters.

Two appeals raised the issue, but the court said it could not decide a matter of such serious public concern at this time because so fragile a record was submitted to it.

The court acted on an appeal by Public Affairs Press of Washington, D.C., which had sought to publish speeches by Vice Adm. Hyman G. Rickover, a Navy expert on atomic submarines. Rickover copyrighted some of his speeches.

A separate appeal by Rickover involved the status of 22 of his speeches that were not individually copyrighted.

On both appeals, the Supreme Court set aside a decision by the U.S. Court of Appeals here and told it to send the case back to the U.S. District Court for dis-about 1,000 jet planes in the first lines of combat, that this Scandinavian kingdom within radar-range of the Soviet Union is counting on to keep it at peace.

Gen. Stig Noren, chief of staff of the Swedish Air Force, says: "A big power can probably beat us, if using all its vast resources, but we believe that in case of an attack the enemy big power would be forced to limit its attacking strength here considerably."

It is not at all improbable that our strength in the air may have already sometime saved us from an invasion."

The Swedish Air Force, regarded as the world's fourth or fifth strongest behind the United States, Soviet Union, Great Brit-

The way is thus left open for a possible final Supreme Court ruling on the issues later when a stronger record is made.

tain and possibly France, is on a 24-hour alert.

Backing up the air patrols is a network of modern radar stations along Sweden's 1,700-mile - long coastline with a range that extends beyond the Soviet border.

"Not even a gnat could slip through unnoticed," an Air Force spokesman said.

The Swedish Air Force has "hit the road" with highways widened and straightened for use as emergency runways, bases scattered and camouflaged so cleverly that motorists driving by would never notice them.

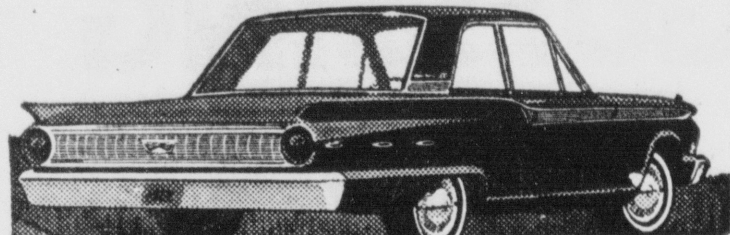

In twos and fours, on runways or in underground hangars dug into solid atom-proof bedrock, Swedish pilots sit out their round-the-clock 5-hour shifts in their Draken, Lanser, Hawker Hunter or J29 (flying barrel) planes. Their cannons are loaded, and homing rockets like the American sidewinder hang under the wings.

Gen. Noren says a total "take-off-in-a-minute" alert for the whole Air Force can be achieved.

Brothers Held For Beating Of Priest

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Two Detroit brothers, arrested in connection with the beating and robbery of a Minneapolis Catholic priest, are being held for investigation in the suburban Vandalia jail.

Vandalia police said Walter Reuther, 30, and Ernest Reuther, 28, were arrested Sunday night by highway patrolmen on a pick-up order from Kansas City where the incident occurred Friday night.

The Rev. Martin Joseph Larkin, 52, is reported in satisfactory condition in a Kansas City hospital recovering from effects of the beating.

He told police there he picked up two hitchhikers near Claremore, Okla., Friday night and brought them to Kansas City. During the ride, the priest told police, the two men said they were going to rob him. He said he went to bed about 11 Friday night and remembered nothing until he was revived Saturday morning.

Motel employees found him unconscious in bed, tied with towels and covered with blood. The priest said his car, $250 and three suitcases were gone.

Broncs, Logan Elm Set for Big Clash

The Ashville Broncos and the Logan Elm Braves are set for battle for the third time this year when they meet at Livingston Gymnasium on the Denison University Campus in Granville tomorrow night.

In previous meetings this season, Ashville downed the Braves 72-63 in regular season play and 73-62 in the final game of the Pickaway County tournament.

Both teams will be shooting for a berth in the district finals which will be played in the Ohio State Fairgrounds Coliseum Friday night when the winner will play the victor of the Lancaster Fenwick-Ridgdale game at Marion.

Amanda-Clearcreek meets University High School in the first game Wednesday, scheduled to get under way at 7 p. m. The Ashville - Logan Elm tilt will start about 8:30.

READY FOR ACTION — Francis Fraunfelder, a member of the Saltcreek donkey basketball team, works out with a teammate in preparation for the big game scheduled for Thursday evening with faculty members and bus drivers of the Logan Elm School District.

2 New Foes on Tiger Sched; Teays Valley Slated in 1963

The Circleville High School will have three formidable non-league grid opponents to open the 1962 football season. Teays Valley, Pickaway County's newest high school, will be on the 1963 schedule.

Two of the 1962 opponents, Olentangy and Reynoldsburg, are new to the Tiger grid schedule. Athens, the third team, is no stranger to the Circleville grid-dens. Last year, the Roundtowners beat the Bulldogs 15-2 on the Athens gridiron.

The combined record of these three teams for the 1961 season is 24 wins against 4 losses. Circleville's only loss last year was a 30-0 drubbing suffered at the hands of Wilmington. The Roundtowners finished the season with a 9-1 record and were co-champions, along with Washington C. H., of the South Central Ohio League.

IN 1963 Circleville will travel to Teays Valley for a non-league encounter which will be followed in 1964 by a return engagement at Circleville.

Here is the 1962 slate:
Sept. 7—at Olentangy
Sept. 14—Athens
Sept. 21—at Reynoldsburg
Sept. 28—at Pleasant View
Oct. 5—at Washington C. H.
Oct. 12—Wilmington
Oct. 19—Hillsboro
Oct. 26—at Greenfield
Nov. 2—Miami Trace
Nov. 9—Franklin Heights

The Detroit Tigers have trained at Henley Field in Lakeland, Fla., for the past 25 years.

Wildlife Week In Ohio Due March 18-24

Ed Nichols of Cleveland, has been named state-wide chairman to direct the 1962 National Wildlife Week program in Ohio.

The appointment was announced by the League of Ohio Sportsmen which joins with the National Wildlife Federation in sponsorship of this educational campaign each year. Observance of Wildlife Week has been set for March 18-24, coinciding with the first day of spring.

Nichols stated that the 1962 observance of Wildlife Week is intended to highlight problems involved with preserving continental flights of migratory waterfowl. Theme for the observance is: "Waterfowl for the Future by Conservation of Wetlands Which Benefit Man and Wildlife."

It was pointed out that the numbers of potholes, marshes and swamps are rapidly dwindling, due largely to drainage for agricultural purposes or for uses as industrial sites, airports or roads. Additional wetlands have been hit by drought.

Conservationists point out that migratory waterfowl management is an international problem. A large percentage of ducks and geese are produced in Canada. The migratory flights progress across the United States and many of the birds winter in Mexico and points even farther south. The flights move south in the fall and north in the spring.

Pop Ivy Sees New Look for Houston '11'

HOUSTON (AP)—Frank (Pop) Ivy says the Houston Oilers might have a new look in 1962.

Ivy, Houston's third head coach in as many years, replaced Wally Lemm Monday and said the team may rely more on the running game.

The Oilers led the American Football League in passing last season in winning the championship for the second year.

When K.S. (Bud) Adams, Oiler owner, brought Ivy to Houston he completed what amounts to a coach-for-coach swap with the St. Louis Cardinals of the National Football League.

Ivy resigned in St. Louis with two games left last season. Wally Lemm, who took Houston from the doldrums to the championship in 10 games last year, left the Oilers for St. Louis Feb. 22.

"In looking over the statistics," Ivy said today, "I noticed that although Houston ran about the same number of passing and running plays, it gained almost twice as much passing. I'd like to get a little better balance."

Ivy's tenure and salary were not announced.

10 Birthday Parties Planned for Stagg

LOS ANGELES (AP) — There may be as many as 10 birthday parties for Amos Alonzo Stagg when the Grand Old Man of football turns 100 on Aug. 16.

Dinners will be held from coast to coast that night as part of a campaign to raise funds for a field house and other athletic facilities at the University of the Pacific in Stockton, Calif.

Stagg coached there many years (when it was known as College of the Pacific) and the field house will be named for him.

A.E. England of Hollywood, a university trustee, said Monday that dinners are planned in New York; Philadelphia; Boston; Washington; New Haven, Conn.; Chicago; Seattle; Stockton; San Francisco, and Los Angeles.

Campbell Advances Into 'Top Ten' Rank

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP)—Cigar-chewing Joe Campbell, a former basketball star at Purdue who knows his way around a golf course, has crashed the list of top money winners among the touring professionals.

Campbell won $2,800 last weekend with his victory in the Baton Rouge Open to give him a total of $7,951 in prize money for 1962 — good enough for sixth place among the top 10.

Gene Littler still holds down first place this week with $15,361 and Phil Rodgers is second with $15,033, figures released by Professional Golf Association headquarters show.

Hawaii Chiefs Eye 6th Straight Win

The resurgent Hawaii Chiefs go after their sixth straight American Basketball League victory to night and second place in the Western Division at the expense of the slumping San Francisco Saints.

The Chiefs whipped the Saints 109-99 in Honolulu Monday night to move into a second place tie with San Francisco. Four of the five consecutive triumphs have been over the Saints with the two teams winding up the five-game series at Pearl Harbor tonight.

In other games, the Chicago Majors turned back the New York Tapers 102-98 and the Cleveland Pipers downed the Kansas City Steers 104-92.

Piersall Hurt By New Charge

Woodling Points to Pampered Treatment

POMPANO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Jimmy Piersall, baseball's stormy petrel, said today he was stunned and hurt by charges of his Washington teammate, Gene Woodling, that he was getting preferential treatment.

Woodling, the Senators' player representative, charged Monday that Piersall, the club's highest paid player, got a room to himself and demanded special eating money and bed boards.

"Who does this guy think he is—Joe DiMaggio?" Woodling asked. "I don't like this prima donna treatment he's getting."

"There's nothing personal in this," Woodling continued. "I'm all for him. I hope he hits .350. I want to help him and I'll bend over backwards to do it. But when it comes to disrupting harmony, I've got to do something about it."

Piersall said he had never asked for any special favors and he was at a loss to understand why Woodling had made the charges.

"I have always liked and admired Gene very much," Piersall said. "I don't know why he is feeling off on me."

Piersall said he came to camp determined not to create any controversies.

"I promised my wife, Mary, before I left that I would watch what I say. I was determined to be just another guy."

"When I was in Cleveland, they (the management) sent me to a psychiatrist. The psychiatrist recommended that I room alone. I can't stand smoke. I'm an early riser and have other habits which might upset a roommate."

"As for the bed boards, sure I asked for them. I have a bad back. What's wrong with that? Everybody with a bad back gets bed boards."

"It's true I didn't want to eat in the hotel restaurant, but it wasn't because I wanted to be exclusive. I didn't like the food."

Piersall said he had made a deal with himself for no more tantrums, no temperamental outbursts, no show-boating, no arguments with umpires.

Stunts or no, Piersall figures he is one of the most colorful players in the history of the Senators. The brilliant defensive outfielder, who batted .322 for Cleveland last year, was acquired in a winter trade that sent pitcher Dick Donovan, two other players and cash to the Indians.

Ben Schwartzwalder has a record of 81 victories, 39 defeats and two ties in his 13 seasons as football coach at Syracuse.

Bucks Retain Top Position

But OSU No Longer Unanimous Choice

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Ohio State suffered the most stunning upset of the college basketball season Saturday but the Buckeyes still hold a firm grip on the top ranking in this week's Associated Press poll.

However, for the first time in 12 weeks the Bucks were not unanimous choice for No. 1. They received 40 first-place votes from the panel of experts, Mississippi State picked up three and Cincinnati got the other two. Wisconsin's hustling Badgers pinned the surprising setback on Ohio State, spoiling the Bucks' chances for a perfect season with an 86-67 victory at Madison. The loss was Ohio State's first in 23 starts this season and ended its Big Ten conference winning streak at 27 games.

The Buckeyes who have one game remaining — against Indiana Saturday — piled up 444 points on a basis of 10 for a first, nine for a second and so on. They were given four seconds and one third. Cincinnati's Bearcats, who closed out their regular season with a 61-58 decision over Xavier (Ohio) for a 24-2 record, gained 32 votes for second and stayed in the runnerup spot with 392 points. Kansas State in third, Kentucky in fourth, Mississippi State in fifth and Bradley in sixth also kept the spots they held last week.

Utah's Skyline champions climbed three places to seventh, Bowling Green and Duke each slipped one notch, and Loyola of Chicago took over tenth from Colorado.

The rankings with first-place votes in parentheses:

- 1. Ohio State (40) 444
- 2. Cincinnati (2) 392

Cincinnati Reds Open Hunt For Another Third Baseman

NCAA Starts Preparing Its Federation

CHICAGO (AP) — Armed with the support of athletic organizations at all levels, the National Collegiate Athletic Association was prepared today to complete its federation program.

With the exception of the Amateur Athletic Union, representatives from national organizations, college athletic conferences and high schools throughout the nation backed the NCAA federation plan Monday.

Walter Byers, executive director of the NCAA, said a time limit would be set for all organizations to join the federation program. This would, of course, include the AAU and the armed forces if they wished to join.

The AAU—officially recognized certifying body for international competition by U.S. athletes—is against the NCAA federation program.

The AAU last month offered the NCAA equal representation on its international sub-committees, but the NCAA rejected the offer and countered with the federation program.

The NCAA hopes — through a show of organizational power — to supercede the AAU as certifying body for international competition.

At the present meetings, the NCAA is trying to form federations for gymnastics and track

Reds' intra-squad game Monday. Hutchinson indicated that he would give rookie Cliff Cook the chance to take over.

Not only is Hutch on the spot, but Cook is walking into a lions den.

The 25-year old infielder already has flunked two tests with the Reds, but may just have been a slow starter. He was rated the American Association's Most Valuable Player last year playing for Indianapolis, where he batted .311 and slammed 32 home runs.

Cook's home run potential will be needed to compensate for the loss of the 28-year-old Freese. Doctors say he will miss the first two months of the season. Freese had his finest major league season in helping the Reds to the pennant. He hit .277, slammed 26 homers and drove in 87 runs after being acquired from the Chicago White Sox.

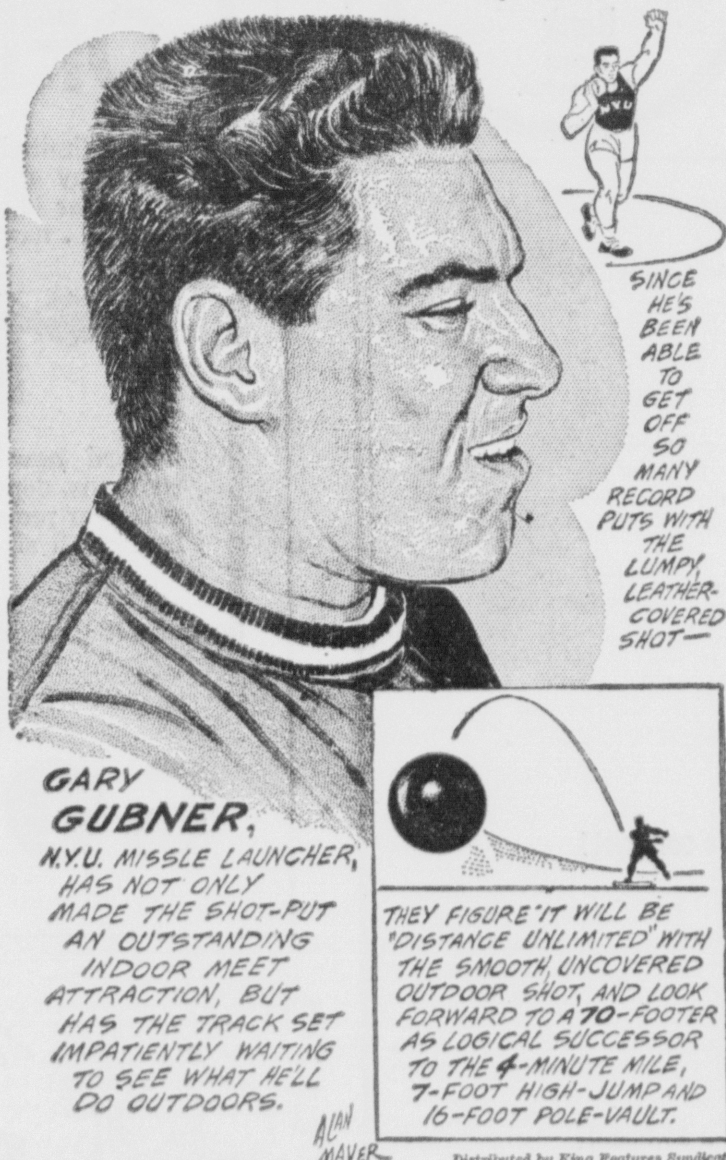

Pitchers Jack Sanford and Pete Ramos felt interested enough about the coming season to sign their contracts Monday. Sanford signed at San Francisco's Phoenix, Ariz., camp for a reported $25,000, a token raise for his 13-9 record, and Ramos of Washington ended his holdout by taking a slight cut from the $20,000 he got a year ago. Ramos had an 11-20 American League record and led in gopher balls with 39.

Pitcher Bob Belinsky of the Los Angeles Angels also signed for the major league minimum of $6,000 which will be boosted to $7,000 if he still is with the team 30 days after the season begins. He had protested that he was being treated unfairly by the Angels.

Steve and Paul Johnson, brothers from Denver, Colo., are ranked one and two in the trampoline event on the Michigan State gymnastics team.

Christian Science Lecture Slated in Columbus Sunday

"Christian Science: The Solution for Mankind's Entanglements" is the title of a lecture to be delivered in Columbus Sunday by Arch Bailey of San Francisco.

Bailey is currently on an extensive tour as a member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship. He will speak under the auspices of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Central High School Auditorium.

A native of Kansas, Bailey has devoted his time to the practice of Christian Science healing since 1940.

Almost All New School Gear on Hand

Almost all equipment needed to furnish the new elementary school at Nicholas Drive and the new addition at S. Court Elementary has been received here.

About 17 teachers' desks are yet to be received, according to Superintendent George Hartman. The other essential facilities such as desks, chairs and cafeteria equipment are on hand.

Hartman said the ordering was done in several parts after careful inspection of equipment samples. The equipping cost was estimated at about $500 for each of 17 rooms in the combined building project.

Both the new Nicholas School and the S. Court addition are due for opening in September. Hartman said final work, much of it on the outside on sidewalks and parking areas and the like, will be completed during the summer months.

Construction has moved along at a steady rate during the winter, despite adverse weather. The City Board of Education is expected to begin a study to determine enrollment at both schools in the near future.

Farmers Ask Boost In Their Road Taxes

MOBERLY, Mo. (AP)—Twenty-seven farmers startled officials Monday night by asking that their road taxes be increased.

When the Moberly special road district was formed in 1902, the tax levy was set at 35 cents per $1,000 valuation. It never has been changed.

The farmers want the roads made passable for modern cars and proposed raising the levy to 45 cents.

The board said it would study the matter.

Hamilton City Aides Must Reside in Town

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—Under a newly-approved policy, all city employees will have to live in the city. The policy was adopted by Council Monday night after a report disclosed 56 municipal employees, including two department heads, live beyond the corporate limits.

Ounce of Prevention

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP) — Some people don't wait until something happens to call police.

A woman here called police recently and complained that a youngster next door was piling snow on her fence.

A patrolman arrived and found no boy and no snow piled on the fence. So he checked with the woman.

She explained that the boy hadn't thrown any snow her way yet this winter but that he had done it every other year.

Panel Tells Kiwanis of High Standards of Church Youth

A panel discussion on "What's Going On in Circleville Churches Relative to Our Youth" was a highlight of the Kiwanis Club program last night.

Participating were Stanley Spring, Kiwanian and Circleville High School teacher; Betty Doucett, educational assistant at the First Methodist Church; Stephanie Marion, president of the Methodist Youth Fellowship; and David Troutman, president of the Let's League.

It was pointed out that on a national average 75 per cent of our youth are outside church activities. The figure for Circleville is 37 per cent.

The panel stressed the point that church affiliation provides the anchor which stabilizes life. The panelists noted that all organizations should be evaluated to assure that young people do not become over-organized to the point they are pressed to the limit by belonging to organizations.

MEMBERS asserted that children attending church develop into the best youth. They said this religious affiliation is best prompted by parents attending church.

It was pointed out that six local churches have fellowships in operation. The conviction that there is no substitute for church and Sunday schools was stressed.

During the discussion it was mentioned that not a single juvenile court case could be recalled where the youth involved was a regular church attendee.

Sewer Easements, Parking on Agenda

Discussion of easements pertaining to Circleville's Sewer District No. 2 and a continued debate on parking in the city are probable points on the agenda when City Council meets in regular session tonight.

Speeded action is anticipated on the sewer easement effort. The Council's main objective now is to get the sewer district completed prior to opening of the new elementary school at Nicholas Drive which will be serviced by the project.

The parking problem has been discussed at the last two meetings of the lawmakers. A solution is still being sought.

Who's trying to call our Ford Fairlane a COMPACT?

Why do some people keep trying to put Fairlane in the compact class? Anyone can see it's miles ahead of the compacts! Are there red faces around because Fairlane is actually priced lower than some compacts? Are some people embarrassed because Fairlane saves gas and handles like a compact, yet has the ride, room and performance of a big car? Are they embarrassed because Fairlane gives you the new freedom of twice-a-year maintenance (every 6,000 miles), something no other car maker gives you today? Don't be fooled—see and drive a '62 Fairlane. It's in a class by itself!
